To whom it may concern

I'm a Samyasin since two years. I've been visiting a college in Germany and passed the final examination. This year I finished my education as a physical therapist.

Since the age of 18 I have had very strong depression until I started to do meditations created by the religious teacher Bhagwan Sri Rajmish.

Every time after I have done one of his meditations I felt much more better, physically and psychologically I felt more alive and more free and more content with myself. Since

I'm a Samyasin I'm able to enjoy life much more than before I don't think anymore that life is a burden. To me living in a Buddhafield means to live together with human beings in love, harmony and trust. My two visits in Rajmushpuram brought Bhagwan very close to me, even if he didn't talk. I felt his immeasurable love through which I can blossom and open my heart. His communion showed me that it is possible to live together in peace and love.

yours faithfully
