To whom it may concern,

Dear Sir,

Introducing myself to you as a woman of 36 years old, mother of two kids, having an education as a medical pathologist and psychiatrist, I realise that without having met Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, I would not have known much more about myself than just this periphérie.

Reading one of his books about 6 years ago such a strong recognition happened inside me from the part in me that I had neglected ~~up~~ until then, but had been there all the time.

From then on a process of getting to know myself, becoming more and more aware of my conditioning, my images, my roles, my masks and getting more and more in contact with the real me who was hidden behind this imposed personality.

The more this happened by doing meditation techniques given by Bhagwan, listening to his words on tape, reading his books, the more I had the feeling of becoming alive, being reborn. After a while I became a disciple and went to Poona in India to meet my Master and to be in his physical presence, in His Buddhafield.

Being back in Europe this process of growing consciousness of accepting myself in all the aspects of life with a ~~detached~~ feeling of gratefulness went on and on and on.

After Bhagwan stopped giving lectures and went into silence, the contact with him deepened and reached to my heart and being. His presence and guidance are with me all the time and I see my life changing in a way that I experience life no longer as a problem to be solved but a mystery to be lived. Being to in His presence two times in Rajneeshpur in Oregon, I felt His blessings showering on me and felt so much love and gratitude towards life that gave me such a beautiful Master. Being there in His Buddhafield with 15,000 people in such a loving, caring, playful, creative free way I felt the whole of humanity could benefit when His message of love, life and laughter <sup>can</sup> spread more and more.

Dear reader, Bhagwan shows me that life is divine, that God is everywhere, that when we can open ourselves for that, ~~that~~ life becomes prayer and dance.

With love,

Ma Prem Dassana
(M.T.M. Terrahe).
