To whom it may concern.

I, Rosemary Eagle, am a British subject and a professional teacher. I attained a Bachelor of Arts Honours degree in Geography and German at the School of European Studies, University of Sussex, England, in June 1978. For the last six years I've been a language teacher in Western Germany, working in State and private schools, and private industry. During this time I studied for a second degree in Psychology and Education at the University of Munich.

I would like to testify that Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is a man of exceptional ability in the areas of psychology and education, and has inspired me personally in my professional field.

My initial contact with Bhagwan's work was as a part of my Psychology course. We visited therapeutic and educative institutions in Germany as a practical course, one of which was Purvodaya, a centre run by disciples of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. We were shown various meditation and therapeutic methods by Dr. Rudi Wormser, a member of the centre, and previous professor of Psychology at the University of Munich. Dr. Wormser conveyed so much commitment and enthusiasm that I began to read books by Bhagwan Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's intellectual contribution in the areas of Psychology and Education are outstanding, and impressed and influenced me in my professional and private life to an extent greater than any other modern day writer.

During my visit to Rajneeshpuram, Oregon, in July 1982, I recognized that Bhagwan is a continuing inspiration, not only to his followers, but to professional people from all spheres, world-wide.
