

Brussels - 19/7/83

Dear Sir,

I always was looking for a place where I could find an union between West and East, between this wordly reality and the spiritual reality.

I was doing therapeutic groups in Europe to try to feel better in society but in the I was missing the spiritual side - Then I had contact with zen or Boudhist associations and with what they were offering I was missing the world side - I didn't wanted to retreat from the world!

Then I met Bhagwan, His work, His ashram and the whole thing was exactly what I was looking for - so I became a Sannyasin and my life started to change.

Bhagwan is the most beautiful person I have ever met - In fact there is none other like Him --- A christ or a Boudha, yes ... but there are not physically there.

The whole world is in misery and I was in misery also

Bhagwan gave me the possibility to

- enjoy life
- to put my energy into work
- to start to be responsible of my life (I have started to stud again to become a nurse and I past my first exam with great success)
- to meet other people who were and are searching for more thank more love in their life.
- I could go on .....

more briefly. Bhagwan has succeeded with me where nobody has succeeded.

And He is there to offer the same thing to everybody.

I come from the high society class of Belgium and what I see there is nentic people with so much problems and suffering And I wish that they will see one day through the change Bhagwan has been doing in me that the same thing is available for them .... some have already jump

Sincerely yours

Edith Engelhart
