Drs. M. Leenstra.
Associate professor of applied psychology.
State University of Groningen Holland.
Faculty of Social Sciences , Leeuwarden.

To whom it may concern,

As a dutch social scientist I would like to state the following:
I am a professional social psychologist , teaching and researching at the State University of Groningen.
Several articles of mine about social work practice and on human welfare have appeared in dutch books and scientific journals , particularly "Tijdschrift voor Agologie".
I have come to know about Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh through his books.
His writings I consider of immense importance for the field of humanistic and transpersonal psychology.
His contributions to the psychology of consciousness and the functioning of the human mind are pioneering. Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is often quoted in american psychological journals like the Journal of humanistic psychology and the Journal of transpersonal psychology, and by academic psychologists who are wellknown like R.N. Walsh , W.C. Schutz and F.E.Vaughan.
Colleagues used to prescribe Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's books for study in their courses , like Prof. dr. J.Snijders in a course on the theory of human wellbeing.
His work indeed can be epochmaking for psychology.

Yours faithfully ,

M. Leenstra.
